

Remote Interpretation for Virtual and In-Person Meetings

With the RSI X platform, Tiller Language Services (TLS) can turn any smart phone into a simultaneous interpretation headset for virtual and in-person meetings. No matter the language, your participants will receive the same outstanding simultaneous interpretation experience that they'd expect from a fully equipped international conference center staffed with on-site linguists and technicians. Working remotely, TLS can engage the most experienced professional interpreters no matter the location, date, or time of the meeting.

Key Benefits

- Use in tandem with any virtual meeting platform via smart phone app (including Zoom, Microsoft Teams, Google Meet, Webex and many more)
- Easy for meeting participants to download and use
- Optimized for interpreter performance
- Low bandwidth required and minimum latency
- Accommodates multiple languages at once
- Encrypted data
- Remote technical support

How RSI X Virtual Meetings Work

- Organize your virtual meeting as usual
- QR or numeric code for simultaneous interpretation is sent with virtual meeting log-in instructions to attendees
- Participants attend virtual meeting on computer or tablet and listen to interpretation via smart phone app
- TLS provides remote tech support for set up and during your meeting

How RSI X In Person Meetings Work

- Your on-site AV team provides TLS with an audio and video feed of the meeting
